Rules

- Nationality, name, address, contact information, and email address must be entered.
- Only copyrighted works taken by the participants themselves can be submitted, and even if the entry is awarded, the copyright will still belong to the participant.
- When the National Hangeul Museum (hereafter NHM) receives an exclusive license from the winners regarding the copyrights of the winning works, it can freely use them for marketing purposes (production, reproduction, distribution: the NHM website, SNS, advertisements, printing, etc.) and change all or part of the works within the scope of its business purposes. Applicants who disagree with this will be excluded from the selection of winners (including award cancellation even after being selected).
- In any case, if a contestant submits an imitation work or a winning work in other contests, or modifies the metadata of the original filming, he or she will be disqualified (including award cancellation). In the event of a copyright dispute over an entry, the NHM is not liable for any legal responsibility. (The NHM does not own the copyright for the entry.)
- The winner shall not violate the exclusive right of the NHM, by, for instance, transferring the copyright of the award-winning work to a third party other than the NHM or granting permission to use it.
- In the case of aerial (drone) photography, works will be accepted only when the shooting was done under the approval of the relevant authorities and complies with the Aviation Safety Act and other related legal regulations, and the participant shall be fully liable for the shooting. Works that do not comply with the above will not be considered (including award cancellation).
- The final winner must submit relevant documents within 7 days after selection, and failure to do so may result in award cancellation.
- All entries that have not been awarded will be discarded within 3 months from the end of the contest.
